

Take Action When Rates Rise

EQRR: Equities For Rising Rates ETF

ProShares Equities for Rising Rates ETF is built on a strategy specifically designed to potentially outperform traditional U.S. large-cap indexes during periods of rising rates. That's because its underlying index is:

Focused

Targets the sectors that have outperformed as rates rise

Timely

A history of outperformance during rising rate environments

Dynamic

Reconstitutes quarterly as markets react to rising rates

Built to Outperform as Rates Increase

EQRR's underlying index, Nasdaq U.S. Large Cap Equities for Rising Rates Index, has significantly outperformed the S&P 500 after the yield on the 10-yr Treasury started rising during the summer of 2020.

A Rules-Based Approach

EQRR tracks the Nasdaq U.S. Large-Cap Equities for Rising Rates Index, which is built using a rules-based engine designed to target sectors that have outperformed as interest rates climb.

1. Focused On 5 Sectors with Outperformance Potential

The index first targets the five sectors that have had a tendency to outperform when rates rise – those sectors that have demonstrated the highest correlation with the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield over the prior 36 months. The sectors with the highest correlations receive the highest weighting.

2. Focused on 50 Stocks with Outperformance Potential

The index next targets 10 stocks within each of those sectors that have demonstrated the highest correlation to the 10-year U.S. Treasury yield over the past 36 months. The 10 stocks in each sector are then equally weighted.

3. Reconstituted Every 3 Months

The index is reconstituted using this rules-based approach on a quarterly basis, allowing both sectors and stocks to help keep pace with evolving market conditions.

Go On the Offensive when Rates Rise

EQRR has outperformed the S&P 500 as the 10-year Treasury yield has risen, and sector allocation and stock selection components were both key contributors to the fund's performance.

A Compelling Strategy with the Convenience of an ETF

Equity strategists and portfolio managers have traditionally addressed rising rates environments with a variety of fragmented approaches. EQRR synthesizes these strategies with a rules-driven, sector and stock selection approach that delivers:

- A focused strategy that includes only those U.S. large-cap sectors and stocks that have demonstrated a tendency to outperform when interest rates rise.
- A complement to a core equity allocation for a rising rate environment.
- The ease and convenience of an ETF.

The fund is designed to provide relative outperformance, as compared to traditional U.S. large-cap indexes, such as the S&P 500, during periods of rising U.S. Treasury interest rates. As a result, the fund may be more susceptible to underperformance in a falling rate environment. There can be no guarantee that the fund will provide positive returns or outperform other indexes.

The fund concentrates its investments in certain sectors. Narrowly focused investments typically exhibit higher volatility.
